

Our Rent — Where We Stand

15/51–55 Shaftesbury Road, Burwood NSW 2134

Our share only (Shane & partner) · Prepared 30 June 2026

The short version

Pay $170.71 now, then $295 every Saturday.

That's it. We're paid up and on track.

What changed

- Our old lease: $290/week, rent day Wednesday.
- Our new lease (renewal): $295/week, rent day Sunday, week runs Sun–Sat.
- The new $295 rate starts 28 June.

Why $170.71 now (not a full $295)

Last Tuesday we paid $290 covering the old-style week up to today, Tue 30 June. That already paid for 28, 29 & 30 June. The new Sunday week (28 Jun–4 Jul, $295) overlaps those 3 days — so we only top up the rest:

New Sunday week (28 Jun – 4 Jul)	$295.00
Less 3 days already paid (28–30 Jun)	–$124.29
Pay now → square to Sat 4 July	$170.71

From then on

When we pay	Amount	Covers
Now	$170.71	up to Sat 4 Jul
Sat 4 Jul	$295.00	Sun 5 – Sat 11 Jul
Every Saturday after	$295.00	the week ahead

Rent is officially due Sunday, but we pay our housemate on Saturday so he has the money before the Sunday deadline.

Important: the house arrears is NOT our problem

The household is behind with the agent by $2,405.71 — but that's because our housemate didn't forward the rent, not because we underpaid.

We've already paid him $580 for 17–30 June. That money is sitting with him. We must not pay our 17–30 June share again. Our only outstanding payment is the forward $170.71.

Bottom line

- ✓ We've paid our share on time, every week.
- ✓ Pay $170.71 now → fully square to Sat 4 July.
- ✓ Then $295 every Saturday.
- ✓ Don't double-pay into the house arrears — our 17–30 June share is already paid.
